Funeral Information Standard

Commencing on 1 February 2020, the Fair Trading Regulation 2019 (NSW) requires funeral directors to provide information in relation to the supply of funeral related expenses.

There are many variations to funeral traditions and processes in Australia. Each religion, culture and location have elements to their funeral services that aren't found elsewhere. This means that the prices of funerals and the products and services delivered by funeral directors vary. We are happy to discuss any pricing element with families individually and we have additional information available on general prices and service fees. Please don't hesitate to ask us about any element of pricing that you don't understand or varies from what you have seen elsewhere.

A funeral is a combination of personal choices made to honour a life and the total cost of a funeral will reflect these choices. Wauchope District Funeral Services is proud to be a family owned business serving our local community. We offer a flexible pricing structure with a range of options to allow every individual to receive a tribute tailored to their unique personality.

We encourage you to choose only the items you desire. If you are charged for items you did not specifically request, we will explain the reason for the charge and present you with a written quotation at the time of the funeral arrangements or upon request. Please note that there may be charges for disbursement items or items provided by third parties. The nature of these costs may make it difficult to accurately quote, but we will explain this and, wherever possible, offer an estimate and/or communicate the costs to you as soon as it is provided to us.

The information and prices presented here are not comprehensive and individual items may vary and/or may or may not be required in all cases – depending on the circumstances and options chosen. We encourage you to speak with us about which items are required and we will create a tailored quotation for your unique circumstances.
